Aaron C. Sargeant - Captain

W. L. S.

1824.

Saturday 6 June.

1854,
Wednesday, Dec. 6
Balt., 8.30 A.M.
Sent. 42° 30'
Bar. 30.00

Wind moderate and light variable, C. fine, clear, but with thick smoke like that of burning peat, as I suppose from the Prairie fires in the West. Passed several vessels at anchor in the night during the night, and this A.M. were off Annapolis, but not near enough to see distinctly any of the objects on shore. Light variable winds and calms, which prevailed during the day.

Thursday, " 7th
Bal., 8.30, Lat 39° 45'
A.M. — Chesapeake

At 2 P.M. made Sequoia Light 15 miles N.N.E., C. now ahead to keep light in sight — at 8 P.M. it bore N.N.E. 1°.
The pilot coming on board, and the usual boat sent on shore — under close reefed and lowered, in getting which the Captain's boat, at the davit, was crushed by the fluke of the anchor, with a heavy jerk from the ship, and made a fair sweep to leeward, where she was soon picked up by the pilot boat, returned to the ship, and hoisted on board — the pilot boat then ran ahead of us, and we followed in her wake, with the wind light and variable, at N.W. — Double reefed the topsails shortly after, — the wind, until light.

Friday, " 8th
Bal., 8.30 A.M.
Sent. 42° 30'

Calm during the night, with light S.W. and thick weather, at daylight found the ship surrounded by fishing boats from Cape Ann, and Gloucester — at anchor with C.L. a light breeze with clear weather.
